

Mobile Phone Device Management Strategy

The NSW Department of Education bans the use of mobile phones at school. This includes during classroom activities, break times and on school related activities and excursions. This ban includes devices that connect to phones such as earphones and smart watches. Unless notified by their teachers that a mobile phone will be required for specific educational purpose, all students must:

- switch off their mobile phone devices and put away in their locker OR their bag when entering the school
- keep their mobile phone devices switched off and out of sight throughout the school day
- not receive or send calls or messages throughout the day.

Students who do not follow the above requirements will be directed to hand their mobile phone device into the office to be collected at the end of the school day.

Repeated occurrences will result in parents/carers being contacted to collect the mobile phone device from school or attend a meeting with the Deputy Principal.
