NBSC Professional Development Day

Welcome back to Term 3. Staff began the term with College Development Day on Monday, an opportunity for teachers across all five campuses to collaborate and learn together. The focus of day was Visible Learning, based on Professor John Hattie's research into what works best to improve student outcomes. The keynote and workshops provided an engaging overview of the research and also provided teachers with strategies to develop students' metacognitive skills. Our staff were affirmed to hear our teacher professional learning focus on effective feedback to students using strategies, such as 'medals' and 'missions', has a significant positive impact on students' learning.

Interesting also to note, the top two study-skills strategies which have the greatest positive effect on students' learning are 'organising and transforming – making an outline before writing a paper' and 'self-consequences – putting off pleasurable events until work is completed'. Both of these strategies would be worthwhile incorporating into ongoing practice for all students, and in particular for Year 12 working towards their Higher School Certificate with Trial Examinations in Weeks 3 and 4 and Major Works due this term.

Praxis

Year 7 continue to work enthusiastically on their current Praxis project, where they have been challenged to answer the driving question 'How do revolutions progress human knowledge?' Students in Praxis A classes are constructing complex

Rube Goldberg machines that represent the contributions of select revolutions within given disciplines. This project encapsulates our school's commitment to enriching, engaging Project Based Learning experiences to develop students' team work, and critical and creative thinking.

Enrolments

Applications for enrolment in Years 8 – 12 are open to students outside the school. Enrolment information and application forms are available from the school website or <https://education.nsw.gov.au/selective-high-schools-and-opportunity-classes/years-8-to-12> . Vale Justine

We express our deepest condolences to the family, colleagues and friends of Justine Rusczyk Damond who died this week in extraordinary circumstances in Minneapolis. As an ex-student and School Captain of our school in 1995, she left a powerful legacy with staff and her cohort, many of whom have expressed their shock and disbelief in messages to the school. Her death is a reminder of the enduring importance of community, local and global.

Year 8

On Tuesday I had the pleasure of supervising 21 Year 8 students participate in The Write a Book in a Day competition. In The Write a Book in a Day competition budding authors are given only 12 hours to write, edit, illustrate, review and print a 4,000 – 5,000 word novel suitable for children aged 10 – 16 years. Students are given the parameters at 8:00am; these included two human characters, one non-human character, an issue and the setting. On top of that they were given five random words that they had to include.

Completed books are presented to children in hospital. To be eligible to compete teams need to raise a minimum of $300, with all funds raised going directly to the Kids' Cancer Project. Providing opportunities for students to write for an authentic purpose is a great motivator and embraces our school ethos Giving Back to the Community. The task commitment, effort and team cooperation shown by the following students were outstanding:

Team 1: Nathan Cheng, Daniel Duncan, Casey Bolton, Jayden Hunter, George Mc Kee, Martin Le and Benjamin Parry. You can sponsor Team 1 by visiting - <https://www.writeabookinaday.com/teams/year-8-team-1->

Team 2: Gemma Cooper, Levi Newport, Hannah de Mars, Max Oldham, Jed Morrison, Matthew Robinson, Mia Schwartz and Melissa Chen. You can sponsor Team 2 by visiting - <https://www.writeabookinaday.com/teams/team-2-year-8>

Team 3: Eliza Lo Russo, Amelie Letchford, Hannah Lovlin, Zahra Chew, Chloe Bracher and Vivienne Paduch. You can sponsor Team 3 by visiting - <https://www.writeabookinaday.com/teams/team-3-year-8>

Thank you to Ms Tye, Ms Izosimova and Ms Hewes for supporting and motivating the students throughout the day.

A detailed report by the students will be posted in next week's Weekly Pines.

Year 10

Thank you to the Year 10 parents, caregivers and students who attended Parent Teacher night on Thursday evening. This event provided an opportunity for teachers to give feedback and discuss strategies to assist Year 10 students as they move towards the final stages of their Stage 5 journey. There was a lot of discussion around Stage 6 subject selection. This will be discussed at the Year 10 into 11 interviews to be held in Week 4. Details about booking an interview will be emailed to parents next Friday and also provided in the next issue of the Weekly Pines.

Year 12

It was fantastic to see so many students take up the opportunity to come into school during the holiday period to work on major works and attend workshops. This added support and time would not have been possible without the dedication and commitment from our wonderful Year 12 teachers. With only a week to go until the HSC Trials, I encourage all students to utilise the resources available to them. To help students prepare for the Trials we are opening the Library after school on Mondays through to Thursdays. HSC Hub is a good resource for students to access when revising and Year 12 students have been given free access during the trial period. Please remember to speak to your mentor teacher and class teachers who are there to support and encourage you to achieve your personal best.

Kathy O'Sullivan
Deputy Principal – Years 8, 10, 12

Welcome back to Term 3, with another action packed term ahead at Manly!

In addition to Years 7 and 9 beginning a number of new subjects for the semester and Year 11 starting their final term of the Preliminary course, a number of exciting activities are planned throughout the term. This starts with a food drive collecting non-perishable items for the homeless being organised by Rhiannon Marshall Whitte, we then have an upcoming House Competition event, the SRC elections, not to mention the infamous Pinestock with the theme eagerly awaited by a number of students (and staff I'm sure).

In coming weeks the Year 7 PALs program commences, with Peer Academic Leaders from Year 10 working with small groups in a similar way to the Peer Support program, allowing students to enhance both their academic performance and overall wellbeing. In addition, Year 7 students will be undertaking their Gala Day on Monday 31st July, competing in a variety of sports against other schools in the regions. Information on this event will be distributed next week at their Year Meeting.

Thank you to all Year 9 parents and students who attended Thursday's Parent Teacher night. It was fantastic to speak with a number of parents, some of whom were experiencing their first Parent Teacher night at Manly. The event allowed teachers to provide valuable feedback to students and parents, providing guidance on how students can move forwards with their studies and achieve their personal best. If you were not able to attend and would like to discuss your child's progress, please contact the school.

Year 11 will be receiving information in the coming weeks on their Year 11 into 12 interviews with either myself, Ms Walker or Ms Rixon. Topics for discussion will include subject choices for the HSC, strategies to help students through their final year of school and the Year 12 teacher mentor program. This will be a highly valuable experience for students as they move into their HSC year.

Year 8

Mallika Aithala, of Year 8, was very successful at the Sydney Eisteddfod this year.

Her results, including 3rd Place in Classical Ballet Duo (Any Age) The Wenkart Foundation Ballet Championship (13 Years) - 3rd place; Contemporary (13 Years) – Finalist; Modern Expressive (13 Years) – Finalist; Demi Character (13 Years) - Highly Commended.

It was very competitive; with almost 80 dancers from all around Australia in most of her events.

Year 10

Women in Engineering STEM Careers Week

During the second week of the school holidays, I was given the privilege of being selected to attend the Science 50:50 / Women in Engineering STEM Careers Week at UNSW. I joined a group of fifty Year 10 girls from across the state with a similar interest in science and engineering. We had the opportunity to visit eight organisations around Sydney and see how science and engineering is involved in their work.

During our visits we learnt about many different career options in these fields, and heard the amazing journeys of various women working for these corporations. It was amazing to see the wide range of working environments from the fun, employee centric office at Google to the industrial water treatment plant at North Head. It was truly inspiring to see the success of so many women in this traditionally male dominated field, and the diverse range of jobs they each held.

On the last day of the program we were lucky enough to gain insight into the different faculties of learning at UNSW and talk to many current students about their experience as a university student studying science or engineering. At the end of the course we presented our discoveries to our fellow students, parents and distinguished guests; including the founder of Science 50:50, Professor Veena Sahajwalla. The whole program was a really incredible and worthwhile experience, and further inspired me to pursue a career in science or engineering. I would definitely recommend this program to other students interested in a career in STEM.

UBS Finance Academy

The UBS finance academy was an incredible experience where we were exposed to a new world of future career opportunity and aspiration. During the four days, we stayed at Macquarie University's on-campus college, which is where we first bonded as a cohort and learnt about our own personality preferences, teaching us a lot about our own strengths and weaknesses within a group environment. Most days we would travel to the city and be presented with interesting speeches by different sectors of the financial industry, which included a talk from a venture capitalist firm Stone 'n' Chalk, CNBC studios, Stan and the CFO of the New South Wales Art Gallery. We were also taught about most positions within UBS Australia and were able to talk one on one with many UBS employees at a canape function.

Overall, the experience was completely eye-opening for all of us that attended and honestly expanded our knowledge of investment banking and finance as a career path and as a whole. For any Year 10's wondering whether or not to apply next year, Caiden and I would extremely recommend it as the experience of living as an investment banker and learning from professionals in the finance industry was unlike anything we learnt at school and gave us an insight to employment opportunities for the future.

Glittering Alumni

Our school's rollcall of glittering alumni continues to be impressive year after year. In the 1985 edition of The Pines there is an article that considers the achievements of famous alumni. Here is an excerpt from the article written by Lisa De Luca, Year 10:

Do you ever wonder about the people who went to Manly High before you? What happened to all those pupils of yesteryear? Well, boys and girls, you may not realise this but we are walking in the footsteps of quite a lot of famous people.

How many of you knew that Doug Mulray, the disc jockey on 2MMM was subjected to the same 'Manly torture' doled out to us? I bet David Hay didn't think, as he sat gloomily through a maths period that he would end up in parliament, nor did Chris Puplick – now a Liberal Senator, or Kerry Sibraa, also a politician.

For students, Jock Fraser and Mark Warburton, the days of tyranny had ended as they left in Year 12. Along with Dick Leigh and Allan Hewish, this bunch of schoolboys was let out into the wide world. But they must have liked the place, for as soon as they finished their degrees Manly High was once again to see their happy smiling faces; only this time 'Get outside, son!' was replaced with 'Yes, Sir'. Our beloved teachers must have sat for hours plotting their revenge.

Boys who once ran around the school with shirts hanging out and chewing gum are today the heads of successful businesses such as Peter Ritchie, Managing Director of McDonalds Australia.

With the Sea Eagles being so close, you'd expect to have a cavalcade of football players. Manly High has not disappointed with players like Max Krilich (a captain of Manly and Australia), Terry Randall, Ray Ritchie, Alec Tannant, Roy Bull, Fred Jones, Steve Knight all attended good old Manly Boys. There is also Ken Arthurson, head of the Australian Rugby League. And our school wasn't just known for its Rugby League players – Brian Cox, Tony Miller and Bob Walton were known for their talent in Rugby Union.

Being near the sea Manly had its fair share of famous swimmers and surfers. Maybe your parents will remember people like Dick Ling who represented Australia at the Tokyo Olympics in swimming. Max Riddington won six state surfing titles in the 1950s, and Barry Lumsdane and Dick Twight travelled to South Africa with the Australian Surf Life Saving Team. David Jackman created history by being the first man to conquer the Queenscliff bombora in a 25-foot surf. He, along with Midget Farrelly sat in the same quadrangle, listening to much the same lectures about the same things. One of the great champions of the Open Australian board display titles was Keven Platt (The Wizard) whose parents make the Platt surfwear.

Looking through the school records, a certain R. H. Cutler appeared in the 1937 Pines Magazine. Although he only went to Manly Boys for a short time, this little boy grew up to be Roden Cutler, the Governor of New South Wales.

All these people and many more like them (it is impossible to list them all) have done something positive with their lives. They knew what it is like to be at school, they had to go through the same things as we do and felt the same feelings as you and me. Whether you are very talented or just a trier, give it all your best and you'll know you're a winner
